Dr. Patricia Charache passed away on September 12, 2015, after a brief illness. She was a leader in Johns Hopkins Medicine in the fields of microbiology, infectious disease, and patient safety. Her career spanned over 50 years at Johns Hopkins and her contributions were immeasurable. Please join the Department of Pathology in a Memorial Service to honor the life and the legacy of “Dr. Pat” who truly exemplified the tri-part mission of Johns Hopkins by her profound commitment to improve the health of the community and the world by setting standards of excellence in medical education, research, and clinical care.
